ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Judge of the Court of Appeals.

We are authorized to announce Hon. RICHARD REID as a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals to succeed Judge Thos. F. Hargis in the First Appellate district of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce that Judge ROBERT RIDDLE, of Estill county, is a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals in the First Appellate District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

CAPT. T. D. MARCUM, editor of the Catlettsburg Democrat, is a candidate for Assistant Clerk of the House.

The Charleston, S. C., News and Courier reports great injury to the cotton by drouth, and greater injury threatening the upland crop.

"This and That," of the Courier-Journal, is taking a leading hand in developing Kentucky poetry. He has lately made "Memphis air" rhyme with "hereditary," which shows what true genius can do when it buckles down to solid work.

WILLIAM W. HOLDEN, ex-Governor of North Carolina, publishes a card announcing his withdrawal from the Republican party, and saying that he is not a member of the liberal party. This apparently leaves him nowhere if not with the Democracy.

The Democratic State Convention of Massachusetts will meet at Springfield on September 25. The State Committee has chosen Charles Levi Woodbury to be chairman of the committee on Resolutions and Chas. P. Thompson, of Gloucester, to preside over the convention.

INVITATIONS to attend the inauguration of Governor-elect Knott will be sent to the President and his Cabinet, the Governors of all the States, to many representative men in each political party, and members of Congress, the Legislature, Mayors of cities, etc. The number of invitations sent out will exceed 1,000.

The Mother Hubbard dress is all right in its place, but that place being on a four-year-old child. But donned by persons much above that age it looks very much like a night gown. Broken Bulletin.

That's no objection—on the contrary it is the secret of its present popularity in this city. The next thing now is to adorn the manly forms of our fashionable youth with male Mother Hubbard costumes and the mission of that picturesque dress will be completed.

Another Nuisance.

Ed. Bulletin: In your onslaught upon the hog, you have overlooked a more pestiferous nuisance, and one that benefits nobody; and that is the "game rooster." I don't know how it is with you, but in our neighborhood they seem to be the pet bird of the family. If you want to be a benefactor to your race, please let the poor hog rest in its wallow awhile, and turn your attention to the aforesaid pest, and should you succeed in drawing the attention of the City Council to the matter, and have them banish the rooster with the hog to the country where it was intended they should live, you will deserve to get rich by the "BULLETIN" and have that sheet perpetuated, until it will be like a piece of lost manuscript. I read of a short time since made invaluable by its antiquity. Put yourself in my place, wooing morpheus for that sweetest of all luxuries, a morning nap, have one of these pests mount a goods box or the roof of a neighboring coal shed, and in clarion notes keeps up a perpetual motion for three solid hours, and all the commiseration in your composition will be stirred to its deths in sympathy for poor "Peter" when he denied his Master," for me-thinks the rooster had something to do with it.

Electric Light Display.
Courier-Journal.

Perhaps no display in the exposition building attracted more notice last night than did that of the United States Electric Light Company. On the north side of the building, near the entrance to the Park, the company has on exhibit that which is a marvel of beauty. It is no less than the representation of a mountain side, over which and from which a cascade of sparkling water falls. The representation is in a small space, but is strikingly realistic and pretty. A stand, surrounded by trees and flowers and covered with stones and moss, has been erected high in the air. Underneath this is a large tank of water, and from this an iron pipe runs up through to the top of the mountain and conveys the water which runs from the mountain side, making a beautiful cascade. Of course there is a motion somewhere to keep the water running, and it is found in a little Weston dynamo just at the rear of the display. The dynamo is run by a large Harris-Corliss engine that is situated away across the large building and the dynamo furnishes the power that runs a rotary pump in the tank and forces the water out over the mountain and down its side. Then, to make the effect more startling and brilliant, the company had the scene brilliantly illuminated and lighted by their incandescent lights. Over the display hung a beautiful chandelier with thirty-two lights of twenty-five candle-power each. Over each light was a handsome shade, and no two of them were alike, presenting a pleasing and happy combination of colors.

Again, near the center of the building the company have another display that is lighted by their soft, but brilliant incandescent light, which, unlike most other electric lights, is not at all hurtful to the eye. Here was another brilliant chandelier, with many colored shades, whose lights out shone all those about and around. Not far away from this the company has its plant of eight dynamos, which furnish electricity to all the company's lights in the building save the large one at the Fourth street entrance that shines so bright and attracts so much attention from every one. This is a run by a Maxim dynamo. This light is the 8,000 candlepower and is by far the most intense light in the city and can be seen further than any other. It is claimed that the United States Company's light is superior to any of the electric lights, and the display last night certainly did not suffer by comparison with the other lights.

The company has $25,000 worth of machinery at the Exposition, and the management says it can, with twenty-four hour's notice, furnish more light than is in the whole building.

Strayed Away.
Detroit Free Press.

The young man with two watchchains across his vest boarded a Woodward avenue car at eleven o'clock yesterday forenoon. Among the passengers was an old woman who had been inquiring about taking the Bay City train at the crossing. She looked across at the young man with great interest for a minute or two, and then said:

"Your time must be very valuable, young man."

He bowed and mumbled something which she could not catch, and leaning forward, she asked:

"I suppose one of them watches is for when you go down, and the other for when you come up, eh?"

He shifted around to look out of the window, and seemed somewhat vexed at his want of courtesy, she continued:

"Seems to me it would be cheaper to hitch an eight-day clock to your shirt bosom."

He didn't reply to that, either, and tapping him on the knee with the handle of the umbrella, she inquired:

"Young man, I want to catch the Bay City train."

"Yes'm."

"What time is it by all your watch-chains?"

"I—I—about eleven!" he stammered.

"You didn't look. Come, now, here's an old bull's eye that's been in the family forty-eight years and never had an inch of brass chain hitched to it. I'll bet it shows the right time nearer than anything you've got."

She hauled out a watch almost as large as a saucer, and rattled it around and waved it about, and as he slid along the seat towards the door, she continued:

"I'd let them chains run down and hitch to your boot-strings! Any young man as will go and tangle himself all up and criss-cross his vest with chains and spangles must have got strayed away from some twenty-five-cent store, and wants to be identified and returned. Have you got baked taters hitched to the pocket ends? Say—"

But he dropped off and fell down and got up and got away before she could further abuse him.

A Tennessee exchange says the following placard can be seen in a store in Paris in that State:

Peppermint for
Head ache
Belie
Tooth "
